Subject: Microsoft settlement

It is time to bring all litigation against Microsoft to an end without any further legal proceedings. The courts have ruled in the case against Microsoft and that ruling should stand. Our tax dollars, the time of the courts and the U. S. economy can all be best served by putting this matter behind us. As a user of Microsoft's software I have never felt that I was being forced to deal with a monopolist, overcharged for the products I bought or deprived of the opportunity to purchase something better because Microsoft had stifled innovation by others. Sincerely John A. Meintjes.
